The CONCORDIA

Class of 1950

DEDICATION

Whenever one is walking around the campus of Kimball Union Academy and sees a group of people working industriously, he is very likely to see the face of George Akerstrom in their midst. During the course of the year, Mr. Akerstrom has not only organized the many different work projects which take place on the school grounds, but he has also rolled up his sleeves and worked right along with the boys. It was working on the track in the fall, shoveling snow and flooding the hockey rink in the winter, and getting the football field in shape for lacrosse in the spring.

Aside from being Athletic Director, Assistant Football Coach, Hockey and Lacrosse Coach, and in charge of the athletic store, in charge of making out the athletic schedules and organizing the trips, Mr. Akerstrom is a regular guy and is very much admired by students and faculty alike. His gruff, rather sharp voice is just a front, behind which lies a kind and thoughtful heart. His sensitivity is, perhaps, best demonstrated by his painting of water colors, a hobby of Mr. Akerstrom's which few people know about.

It is, therefore, with a great deal of pleasure that we, the graduating members of the student body of Kimball Union Academy, do dedicate the 1950 edition of the CONCORDIA to a true friend, Mr. Akerstrom.

IN MEMORIAM

Kimball Union suffered a great loss when John Franks died this past summer. John was everybody's friend, and he was always lending a hand when needed. Whenever a job had to be done or volunteers were needed, John was on the spot ready and willing to do his best. John's kind word and smile for everyone has been greatly missed, and he will remain an image of sincerity in the minds of all who knew him.

ARNES LIBRARY

CONCORDIA PLAQUE AWARD

With the intent to stimulate student photography the Concordia each year awards a prize for the best picture submitted by a student. This photograph must be taken, developed, and printed by the contestant. Most of the views in this volume are the plaque winners from previous years. This year's award goes to William Meyer without whose camera this book would be dull indeed.

MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1950

There is no need now to explain to you why you have been asked to follow the daily and weekly schedules which have been your lot at Kimball Union throughout your course here. It is sufficient to say that those who have had your entire welfare at heart have tried to lay out a program which would best accomplish your all-round development.

I wish you would read the poem "God Give Us Men" by Josiah Gilbert Holland. Here are the first two lines:

> "God give us Men! A time like this demands > Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands."

Every age has needed such men, but it seems to me that we need them more and more each year. With your graduation from preparatory school, you end your career as "schoolboys" and become "college men." At least that will be your classification as long as you remain in an educational atmosphere.

You have been and you will be subjected to various tests of ability and aptitude, and you will continue to be judged largely by the grades handed in at the dean's office.

It is important that these shall be of a certain satisfactory caliber, but we are even more concerned with those achievements and actions for which there is no numerical grade nor any percentile mark to compare you with your fellow students.

Our efforts have been directed toward the development of a strong mind by subjecting you to a reasonably thorough scholastic course of study. Our extracurricular activities in which we have urged you to engage as far as time will permit have been for the purpose of developing community spirit, courage, and endurance.

When one observes the developments on our large campus and the projects underway for the future welfare of our school and students, it is most obvious that there have been hundreds of ready hands at work to make it all a reality. We may be limited in our financial endowment, but we certainly are well endowed with you boys and men who have a true faith in the finer things of life.

As you leave with happy hearts because you are through with our restrictions and are bound for the complete freedom of the outside world, I envy you your pleasant dreams! As of now you cease to be schoolboys and suddenly become men with tremendous responsibilities confronting you. No longer will you be the boy who doesn't always have to answer for his actions.

My greatest wish is that you shall go forth to the world of men with your objective to serve your college, community, and fellow men to the best of your ability. May you realize the truth of the Rotary motto:

"He profits most who serves best."

CLASS PROPHECY

There are a number of gloomy methods by which I could tell you about what finally happened to the disillusioned class of 1950. If it were possible, I would bring them all here and have each one tell his own discouraging story. But, if I were to send a general invitation to the whole class. they would immediately suspect that the real purpose of the meeting was to stage a booster party for the new gym. Accordingly, they would decline on the grounds that they were too preoccupied with their respective vices. Therefore it becomes my duty to ferret them out from their scattered retreats and let you see for yourselves how they are faring.

The first part of our journey brings us into the middle of one of Boston's slum districts. On the side of infamous Skid Row rises the dilapidated Cleveland-Rea Flophouse. Both Duke Cleveland and Count Rea claim that all bedbugs found on the premises are of royal descent. Any other types of insects are exterminated annually by Carl Thomas, the local health department officer. On the other side of the rubbish-strewn alley, we find doorman Jim Haywood waiting to give us a hearty welcome to Irv Sherwood's crumbling New Ritz. Inside, manager Jack Janoni is giving "Mauler Moose" Howe his instructions for handling any rowdies that may attempt to crash the annual banquet of the Klan which is to be held that evening. Leaving the New Ritz, we dodge trash cans and alley cats as we carefully pick our way towards Mike Nardone and Dick Case's barbershop. We discover the two scalpers industriously adding their morning's harvest of hair to the refuse already in the street.

The next stop in our itinerary is peaceful Provincetown, Massachusetts, where we find several of the class of fifty and quite a little party-line excitement. Insurgent Communist leader Jack Donahue is holding a conference at his usual summer retreat with Ted Hagstrom and Lee Bailey. Hagstrom, Donahue's left-hand man, is ready at all times to relay orders to Lyman Johnson, the only left-winger in Congress. It is Johnson's job to shout negative arguments at all measures proposed by the capitalistic Congressmen. Lee Bailey is getting permission to give Donahue a big build-up in the editorial pages of the "Daily Worker". Downtown in Georgie Carr's smoke-filled training gym, Bob Rose, the local representative of the Politburo's Secret Service Department, is watching underdog Rocky Derr, alias the Coal-Dust Kid, give heavier, favored Billy "The Bear" Heimlich a tough struggle. The winner of this grunt-and-groan contest will become Donahue's personal bodyguard and thus get a free peek behind the Rusty Curtain. Outside the gym Wally Soule, another of Donahue's agents, watches Hot-Rod Ed Hull and Dare-Devil Bob Mills scare the local population back into their H-bomb shelters as the two compete for the honor of becoming Donahue's chauffeur.

Stopping in one of the more squalid sections of New York City, we soon notice a pair of furtive figures stepping into "Diamond Wil" Kurth's booking establishment on East Fourteenth Street. One of the two is Bobby Earle, underpaid Harvard Professor of English, who hopes to pick up a little jack by playing a ten-to-one long shot at Roosevelt Raceway. The other half of the duo is Robbie Robertson, the headmaster who recently instituted a six-year course, at Kimball Union. He has the new gym riding on Little Blizzard in the fourth race at Hialeah. In a back room, croupier Pete Wurst and roulette hawker Jack Berwick recall the good old days out in Carson City when they worked for the house at the Desert Inn. Outside, street singer John Conant, hardly recognizable behind his dark glasses, holds forth his tin cup in the vain hope that some generous person may emerge from Kurth's joint with a pocketful of winnings.

On the summit of Capital Hill, Senator Ralph Carey has momentarily become the apex of the whirlpool of national politics. Republican Carey started a little mudslinging campaign by accusing Ted McNamara, the Chairman of the National Horse Racing Commission, of overspending in his department. When news of this was reported to Ted, his first remark was an astonished "Who? ME?" The Administration's supporters, mindful of the coming mid-term elections, hastily started a counter-attack by calling for an investigation of Carey's connections with oil magnate Ray Rogers.

Senator Carey made his next attack on the State Department by accusing United States Ambassador-at-large Bill Leatherbee of being a communist. Since Leatherbee was, at the time, in Syria negotiating with the High Shiek of Slebeyanna, Secretary of State Tom Murray answered Carey's attack by proclaiming it an outrageous lie. In the ensuing investigation, Prosecutor Jerry Goldman in an eloquent speech declared the case as lacking in evidence after the testimony in Leatherbee's favor by top F. B. I. detective, Conrad Bell.

As we approach Dick Dolan's exclusive Hilltop Country Club, we find owner Dick chopping up the thirteenth fairway with a number six iron. On the nearby tennis courts, professionals Wilbur Bullen and Bill Thompson display their most dashing gentlemanly courtesy as they show a group of young ladies how best to hold the racket. Inside the clubhouse, Dave Thielscher and Steve Weeks are paying more attention to each other's fiancee than they are to their bridge game. Chuck Ordway and Curt Taylor are sitting in a pair of adjacent lounge chairs and are discussing the merits of their respective pictures in an add for Lord Calvert. At the clubhouse bar sit Chick Tuttle and Phil Turner, shaking a pair of dice over a martini.

In Hollywood, the motion picture is busy filming the new technicolor show "The Half Weekend". The scene now being recorded takes place in a smoke-filled waterfront cafe. Crooner Jim Carver is sitting at an out-of-tune piano trying to make a few discords heard above the elated babble of the crowd. At the bar, a touching episode of brotherly love takes place as Dave Oberlander and Chuck Baldwin fall into each other's arms crying, "My buddy, my old pal". At this point the heartsick countenance of Wayne Daniels is seen mingling through the crowd as he continues his search for his long lost girl friend. The plot of the story thickens as Bill Reinking comes into the cafe and quickly starts a romance with one of the waitresses, only to be interrupted by Frank Fay, that real life hero of the bobby-soxers.

Out in the lonelier regions of the Dakota Bad Lands, we find Don Wood, the owner of the Noisy Bar dude ranch, seated at his desk while watching through the windowless hole in his office wall, the progress of the day's work. Steve Cummings is busy saddling a pair of underfed, sway-backed nags, in preparation for guiding sportsman Dick Plummer on a coyote killing expedition . In the steer-roping corral, cowhand Murray Wright is demonstrating to a couple of pretty feminine dudes his ability in the art of throwing the bull. The girls, however, are more interested in handsome handyman Art Wellman who, for this desolate region seems to be quite a man among men. Nearby, completely indifferent to the presence of the two girls, is Archy Buck, who is totally absorbed in feeding his flock of chickens. Rattling noisily up the bumpy, dusty trail in his jeep is foreman Kinsley Walker, bringing newcomers Dick Reading and Ralph Kelsey, who have now become two more victims of false advertisement. Meanwhile a clanging of pots and pans from the chuck wagon indicates that Monk Ogden is preparing the noon meal of "etcetera" hash.

Driving now along a lonely but much used country road which ascends into the foothills of Kentucky's Cumberland mountains, we are hailed by none other than Johnny Cummings. Recognizing Johnny as the lookout who was to meet us, we give him the password previously agreed upon and then drive on to Pete Shea's secret distillery. Presently the road ends at a rickety unpainted barn. There we repeat, the password to sales executive Dick Esten, who, at our request, allows us to watch the processing of the Atomic Brew. Leaving Esten singing the sales jingle, "Our wine is untouched by human hands," we turn and find Jim Gore trampling the grapes of wrath with his bare feet. Beside one of the half rotten vats, taste-tester Dave Slattery is singing happily at his job. In one of the far corners of the barn, Foster Kay, a chemist from way back, is experimenting with a new formula for a better brew. Art Heard, meanwhile, is busy bottling the luscious liquid, which is to be shipped under the disguise of baby's milk. Having completed our inspection tour, we buy a few gallons of the latest batch, hiccup a farewell, and drive on.

Switching on the color television set in our car, we hear the voice of Tom Flickinger as he brings us a transcribed recording of the highlights in the world of sports. First on the screen is badminton pro, Billy St. Amant, who retains the world's championship by thoroughly drubbing his most serious contender. At Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, ex-third baseman Troy Combs has the pop and peanut concession. At nearby Niagara, stock car racer Don Berwick takes a little time off to pull the biggest advertising stunt of all time by going over the falls in one of his famous Berwick barrels. On the next program, Quizmaster Ben Caci starts firing questions at Answerman Itchy Newman. A sample of Ben's questions is, "What is the chemical formula of water?" Itchy, who is a little rusty on his chemistry, hesitates a moment but finally comes up with the right answer. Meanwhile on channel ninety-nine, Frank Knight and Bun Pease are the stars of "The Kiddies Hour." While Frank is reading nursery rhymes to one group of youngsters, Bun Pease is getting an occasional giggle from the other group as he amusingly tells the story, "How Harold Wescott Put Woody Woodpecker out of Business."

Glancing about the nation we find that a few scientists have come from the class of fifty. Wearing his best pair of bazooka shoes, inventor Bob Slocum is watching the final tests being made on his new Speedy Supersonic Saucers at White Sands, New Mexico. Up in Wyoming we hear someone whistling a few bars of "Springtime in the Rockies." It is none other than botanist John Davis who is gloriously happy over his discovery of a rare mountain orchid. In a large mid-western chemical plant, experimenter Steve Crawford spills acid all over his laboratory as he feverishly works to perfect an invisible plastic. Aided by his famous three-sided slide rule, Doctor Don Savage, M. I. T.'s best mathematician, wins the race to the fifth dimension just two equations ahead of Harvard's Mark III. In Washington, D. C., Nipper Knapp is busy securing the patent rights on his new cross-ventilation machine for prep school rooms with only one window.

Such are the discouraging fates of the class of 1950. It is the duty of the class members to accept these fates with the same cynical humor with which they were given. If by some rare chance there should be among the class someone whose conscience dictates that he ought to strive toward a better goal, he may do so only at the risk of being dealt an even lower station of life. Disappointed loved ones and crest-fallen parents can do little more than hope and pray that the souls of these delinquent boys will someday be pardoned. Until that day comes, keep praying.

CLASS WILL

Karl Thomas leaves his room to the exterminator.

George Carr will leave his Bryant Hall greenhouse to anyone who will water his plants.

"Buzby" Knight leaves with the multiplication tables mastered.

Jack Donahue leaves the Clan without a leader.

Dick Dolan leaves his false teeth to be awarded annually to that person who best qualifies as Mr. "Big Green."

Bob Slocum leaves his hair-do to "Judge" Wilson.

Irving Sherwood leaves for the "New Ritz."

Steve Weeks leaves a few haggard Colby girls to next year's Beau Brummel.

Lee Walker leaves in his jeep.

Ted McNamara leaves nothink.

Stu Cunliffe leaves only to return next year to try to break his scoring record.

Ben Caci leaves with his numerous questions unanswered.

Wally Soule leaves a pair of shoes, which have a long and honorable lineage, to the Salvation Army.

Steve Cummings leaves his racing goggles to anyone who can't see without them.

Dick Reading leaves a line of bear traps from Meriden to New York to be taken up next Spring by Pete Johnson.

When Archie Buck leaves, the chickens will stage a sit-down strike.

Ted Hagstrom leaves legitimately.

Gerry Goldman leaves a bottle of stain remover to next year's butt enthusiasts.

"Moose" Howe leaves the secret of his dynamic submarine ball to anyone who thinks that he can master its intricate technique.

Dave Oberlander leaves only to return next year.

Don Wood leaves Bob Slocum alone.

SENIOR COUNCIL

Along with the election of class officers, the Senior class selects a small group of students to represent it in the form of a Senior Council. The duty of this body is to act as a medium between the Senior class and the school, and to discuss, as well as take action, upon certain wishes of the upper class. In past years, the Council has secured numerous privileges and responsibilities in running a Senior dormitory, and the result of its management reflected satisfaction on both the class and the Council.

This year, a large bulk of work connected with the planning of Winter Carnival and Dad's Weekend was turned over to the Senior Council. The work consisted of selecting committees for teas, refreshments, decorations, and whatever jobs might arise. In short, it was the Council's duty to see that the schedule of events ran evenly and smoothly without any delays or hindrances. The tireless effort that was put into this work contributed to the success of these two occasions, and the Council deserves recognition for the fine work which they have completed this year.

The record which the Council obtained through its diligent work should act as a guidance to underclassmen that they too may run their class organizations to the best of their ability in the years to come. This year's Senior Council will stand as a good example of how a class can elect and manage their own type of governing body, and run it well.

THE CONCORDIA

The staff members and the boys working on this year's yearbook had it pretty soft the first part of the year, but right now the sting of the editors' whips are being felt by all as the book begins its last month of preparation. The advertisement returns are poor at the time this summary is being written, but it is hoped that the tide will turn by the time the presses begin to roll out the pages of the 1950 CONCORDIA in May.

Mr. Sherman, who is the real fire behind the production, is hot on the trails of his two editors, Bill Bullen and Phil Cooke, who, in turn, are constantly prodding all their underworkers. Archie Buck is running around with his little account book following John Akey, business manager extraordinary, taking down numbers and figures which John drops here and there. Mrs. Willis, who helps keep our books straight, is a true part of the backbone, which supports the business staff's proceedings. And one cannot overlook our own Mr. Nash and his English department, which patiently decodes, reads, and rewrites and cries over the written matter submitted to the CONCORDIA.

THE KIMBALL UNION

This year's Kimball Union staff was very fortunate in that it had a number of boys who had had at least a year's experience. The staff was assembled soon after the fall term began, and the first issue was published before the football season opened.

The business staff, under the able direction of Ted McNamara, began to search for advertisement subscriptions almost immediately, and within a week they had secured a sufficient number. Throughout the year Ted and his staff have done their work quickly and efficiently, and much of the success of the paper is owed them.

Sports Editor Tom Flickinger has been one of the most valuable members of the staff. Under his careful supervision, the sportswriters have assured complete coverage of the KUA contests in every season.

No newspaper would be complete without a photographer, and the Kimball Union was indeed fortunate in having Bill Meyer, who has done all the photography this year.

The four assistant Editors, Ted Hagstrom, Pete Wurst, Wil Kurth, and Dave Oberlander, have aptly upheld the regular news coverage and editorials. Wil and Pete have turned in some brilliant edits, while Ted and Dave have done excellent work on the feature articles.

The unsung hero of the staff is faculty advisor Frank Nash. There being no typist with extra time on the hilltop, Mr. Nash has spent much time and hard work correcting and typing the articles, and making incessant trips to the printer. The Kimball Union is indeed grateful to Mr. Nash for his willing assistance and able guidance.

DEBATE CLUB

The Kimball Union Debating Club had only two debates this year, one with Lebanon High School and one with Stephens High School in Claremont. Although this doesn't seem too impressive, the Debating Club was very active. The members covered the Inter-High School Debate at Hanover and collected much valuable material there. The organization put on a demonstration to show the rest of the school the mechanics of a debate. Many of the members of the club gave talks in front of the rest of the organization. All chapel talks were given to the club for criticism before the actual debate was given before the school. This was a pretty busy season considering that it was the first year of public speaking for many members of the club.

With the continued good guidance of Mr. Taylor and Mr. McBee the debating club hopes for another good season next year. Most of the members will be in their second year of debating, and the schedule for next year looks very promising.

The officers of the club this year were Walt Pease, Pres.; Conrad Bell, Vice-Pres.; and George Carr, Secy. and Treasurer.

FRENCH CLUB

The third year of the French Club, although a very interesting and successful one, did not commence until the first half of January had elapsed. This unfortunate circumstance emanated from the conflict among the activities of the different clubs. However, in spite of this handicap, a number of the French III and IV students conducted a meeting in which they elected officers, and, in addition, they decided to choose several of the top pupils from the French II group.

The members of the club, rather than attempt to meet by themselves, asked Mr. Guy Moulton, the noted French teacher of the school, to preside over the initial gathering in Baxter Hall. Mr. Moulton complied with their wishes, and the first meeting was an immediate success. He lectured on the history of the French government beginning with the Revolution of 1789. As a result of this early auspiciousness, Mr. Moulton continued these enlightening lectures, speaking in both French and English.

From this very instructive activity, the some fifteen members of the club felt that they had gained much invaluable information that will aid them immensely next year either in school or in college. Everyone hopes that Mr. Moulton will carry on with the French Club in the same friendly, warm manner he displayed this year.

KIMBALL UNION PLAYERS

The Kimball Union Players, under the direction of Mr. Fay Reed, inaugurated another fine season on the stage with A. A. Milne's one-act comedy, "The Man in the Bowler Hat". This humorous production enlightened Friday evening of Mothers' Weekend here on the Hilltop.

Rehearsals for John Patrick's well-known comedy-drama, "The Hasty Heart", began early in November in preparation for presenting it during Dads' Weekend in February.

The three-act drama dealt with the last few days of life for a proud, lonely, and forgotten Scottish Cameron Highlander, who, without knowing it himself, was dying from a wound in a British Army Hospital within the Southeast Asia Command. The action was limited to the interior of the convalescent ward hut, but the story entailed a great deal of speech which captured a mixture of tart humor and genuine pathos.

Margaret's determination that Lachie should die among friends made all the boys in the ward help in changing him from a person with a proud manner and an aggressive attitude into the friendliest man in the ward. When Lachie learned of his fate, he fell back into his original bitter manner, and the play developed into an ensuing emotional climax.

Wilbur Bullen as "Lachie" played the lead role, supported by Mrs. Ira Townsend as "Nurse Margaret". Lachie's fellow patients were as follows: "Yank" — Will Kurth, "Kiwi" — Pete Wurst, "Digger" — John Batchelder, "Tommy" — Arthur Wellman, and "Blossom", the Basuto — Jim Carver. Completing the role of characters was the sympathetic "Colonel Cobwebs" — Dave Oberlander and the orderly — Curtis Taylor.

Mr. Reed, in appreciation for all those who worked to make the play a success, took all The Kimball Union Players to dinner at the Dartmouth Outing Club.

THE FOREIGN POLICY ASSOCIATION

A better understanding of international problems during war and peace is made possible through the work and activities of the Foreign Policy Association. During the school year on Monday evenings the Kimball Union Foreign Policy members met at either Mr. Adams' or Mr. Moulton's house to discuss some problem of domestic or foreign concern. A question period followed the discussion during which the members cleared themselves on any point or added some important material pertaining to the selected subject. Under the auspicious guidance of Messrs. Moulton and Adams the weekly meetings were carried out with much interest and success. Coffee was generously served by Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Moulton, adding to the enjoyment of Foreign Policy.

Many choices of subjects for discussion this year centered around problems bearing weight on world security. Frequent talks involved the atomic difficulties; how the bomb would affect the world in either war or peace, and the dilemmas which arise in the United Nations Security Council concerning the bomb. Communism and its problems were discussed allowing the members of the Foreign Policy to see its functions, dangers and hindrance in preserving world security.

During the course of the year, the members frequented lectures in Hanover. These lectures were enjoyed immensely as the students were enabled to gain invaluable knowledge presented by the speaker. Occasionally, the lectures were accompanied with illustrations in the form of movies and slides, this adding to the already well-spent evening.

Information provided in the National Foreign Policy Association's material and weekly bulletin aided the student speaker to choose an appropriate topic for discussion.

CHOIR

This year the choir has lent much to the beauty and reverence of our church services. Arriving a half hour earlier than the regular churchgoers, the members of the choir spend those thirty minutes in rehearsing the hymns and the anthems for the morning worship service.

No organization can be a success without a few who are willing to take the lead in making things function properly. The choir is under the able direction of Mr. Frederick B. Rawson, who is assisted by Miss Kathryn Magill at the organ. This year the choir has been fortunate to have a very talented student soloist, John Conant. In appreciation of a few faithful members, Mr. Rawson has taken them skiing at a near by ski area on Sunday afternoons.

Around Christmas time this year, the members of the choir and glee club combined with the choir of St. Mary's-in-the-mountains school for girls of Littleton, N. H., and presented a very beautiful program of Christmas songs, a few of which were taken from Handel's famous The Messiah.

Everyone is grateful to the choir and to Mr. Rawson for the excellent work they have done to make the Church services more meaningful.

GLEE CLUB

This year the Kimball Union Glee Club has tackled one of its usual ambitious programs with a great deal of success. Under the direction of Mr. Frederick B. Rawson, this group, which is comprised of nearly forty-five boys, meets every Thursday morning during activity period in Baxter Hall.

During the past year, The Kimball Union Singers have given five concerts, two of which have been with the neighboring girls' schools of Kendall Hall and St. Mary's-in-the-mountains. The highlight of the year was when St. Mary's-in-the-mountains came to Kimball Union to give a candle-light concert in the Meriden Congregational Church. Of course, from the boys' standpoint, the dance at Kendall Hall may have been the outstanding event of the glee club program. Much credit is due Mr. Rawson on his tireless efforts on behalf of the singers. Miss Magill should by no means be overlooked, for she contributed much of her valuable time in order to play the piano at each rehearsal.

All in all the season may be summed up as a rather good one with everyone giving his utmost in order to help complete a successful year.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Few of us realize how important an organization such as the camera club is to the yearbook, and to those who enjoy taking and processing pictures. "Mike" Deneault, the Faculty Advisor, has seen to it that the boys' orders for photographic supplies are filled. thus making it possible for them to develop and print their pictures. The CONCORDIA frequently uses pictures of school activities taken by club members in its yearly publication.

The school darkroom is open to any member of the club, who has the privilege of using its facilities. Each year the darkroom is improved. This year the boys have agreed upon the purchase of a good fan to keep the darkroom cool for those who work there.

Filling the officers' positions in the club this year are Ray Rogers as President, and Joe Ackell as Vice-President.

THE OUTING CLUB

The Outing Club has been a scene of activity all year long. One is likely to find anything there from a group of boys waxing skis to a mob of students and faculty singing songs and drinking coffee. Anyone can be a member of the Outing Club, but to become a full-time active member requires a little more time. The club house is open to anyone anytime, for either working on some project or for simply a chance to rest or visit.

In the spring the Outing Club participates in the Woodsman's Weekend at Dartmouth College. Our woodsmen came in second only to the Big Green last year, having beaten out such teams as Norwich University, Williams College, Maine, and McGill. Since the KUA Woodsmen Team has nearly all of its men back from last year, it is hoping to lead Dartmouth this spring when the Woodsman's Weekend will be held again in Hanover. It isn't all play, training for these outdoor events, and the enthusiastic KUA entry is hard at work.

Bill Robes (advisor), P. Johnson, Ackell, S. Cummings, Robertson, Wright, Glidden, Mead, York, Clayton, Odell Reading, Crawford, L. Johnson, and Graham.

THE JUNIOR GUIDES

The Kimball Union Academy Junior Guides are a group of boys thoroughly interested in the woods and all aspects of hunting and fishing. This fall Junior Guide certificates were earned in a grueling woodsman's test by ten boys, nearly all of whom are back with the Outing Club this spring. This was almost twice the number of boys who took and successfully passed the Junior Guide course in the spring of 1948, which shows the increased interest in this particular activity. This fall there were also numerous hunting trips that proved to be prosperous as was witnessed when Lawson Glidden bagged his wild boar.

The Junior Guide Organization was started about seven years ago. Such famous members as "Hap" Person, who was recently elected president of the Dartmouth Outing Club and "Nate" Whiteside, who is now doing a wonderful job at Middlebury organizing a woodsman's team, have gone on from Kimball Union to continue their outdoor interests in college. Many other Junior Guides have gone on to forestry schools and made good names for themselves, having had good experience and guidance from Bill Robes, the director of the Outing Club.

CUM LAUDE

The Cum Laude Society, founded at the Jacob Tome Institute in 1906, has grown in prestige and importance over the years. There are now chapters in over one hundred schools, and election to the Society has become one of the highest honors that can be attained by the preparatory school student, similar to election to Phi Beta Kappa in college. The aim of the society from the very beginning has been to emphasize and encourage scholarship; character is considered as well as scholastic attainment, however.

The Kimball Union Chapter of the Cum Laude Society was founded in 1943, when a charter was granted. The officers are Mr. Adams, President, and Mr. Moulton, Secretary; Mr. Brewster, Mr. Carver, Mr. Rawson, Mr. Porter, and Mr. Mosher are faculty members. Mr. Sherman and Mr. Reed were elected as honorary members this year. Four of the present student members have the added distinction of being elected at the end of their junior year —Donald Berwick, Thomas Flickinger, Theodore Hagstrom, and Richard Plummer. Other members, elected in April, 1950, are Archer Buck, Wilbur W. Bullen, Jr., Foster Kay, Wilfred Kurth, William St. Amant, and Perry Wurst. The Concordia congratulates them and wishes them continued success in college.

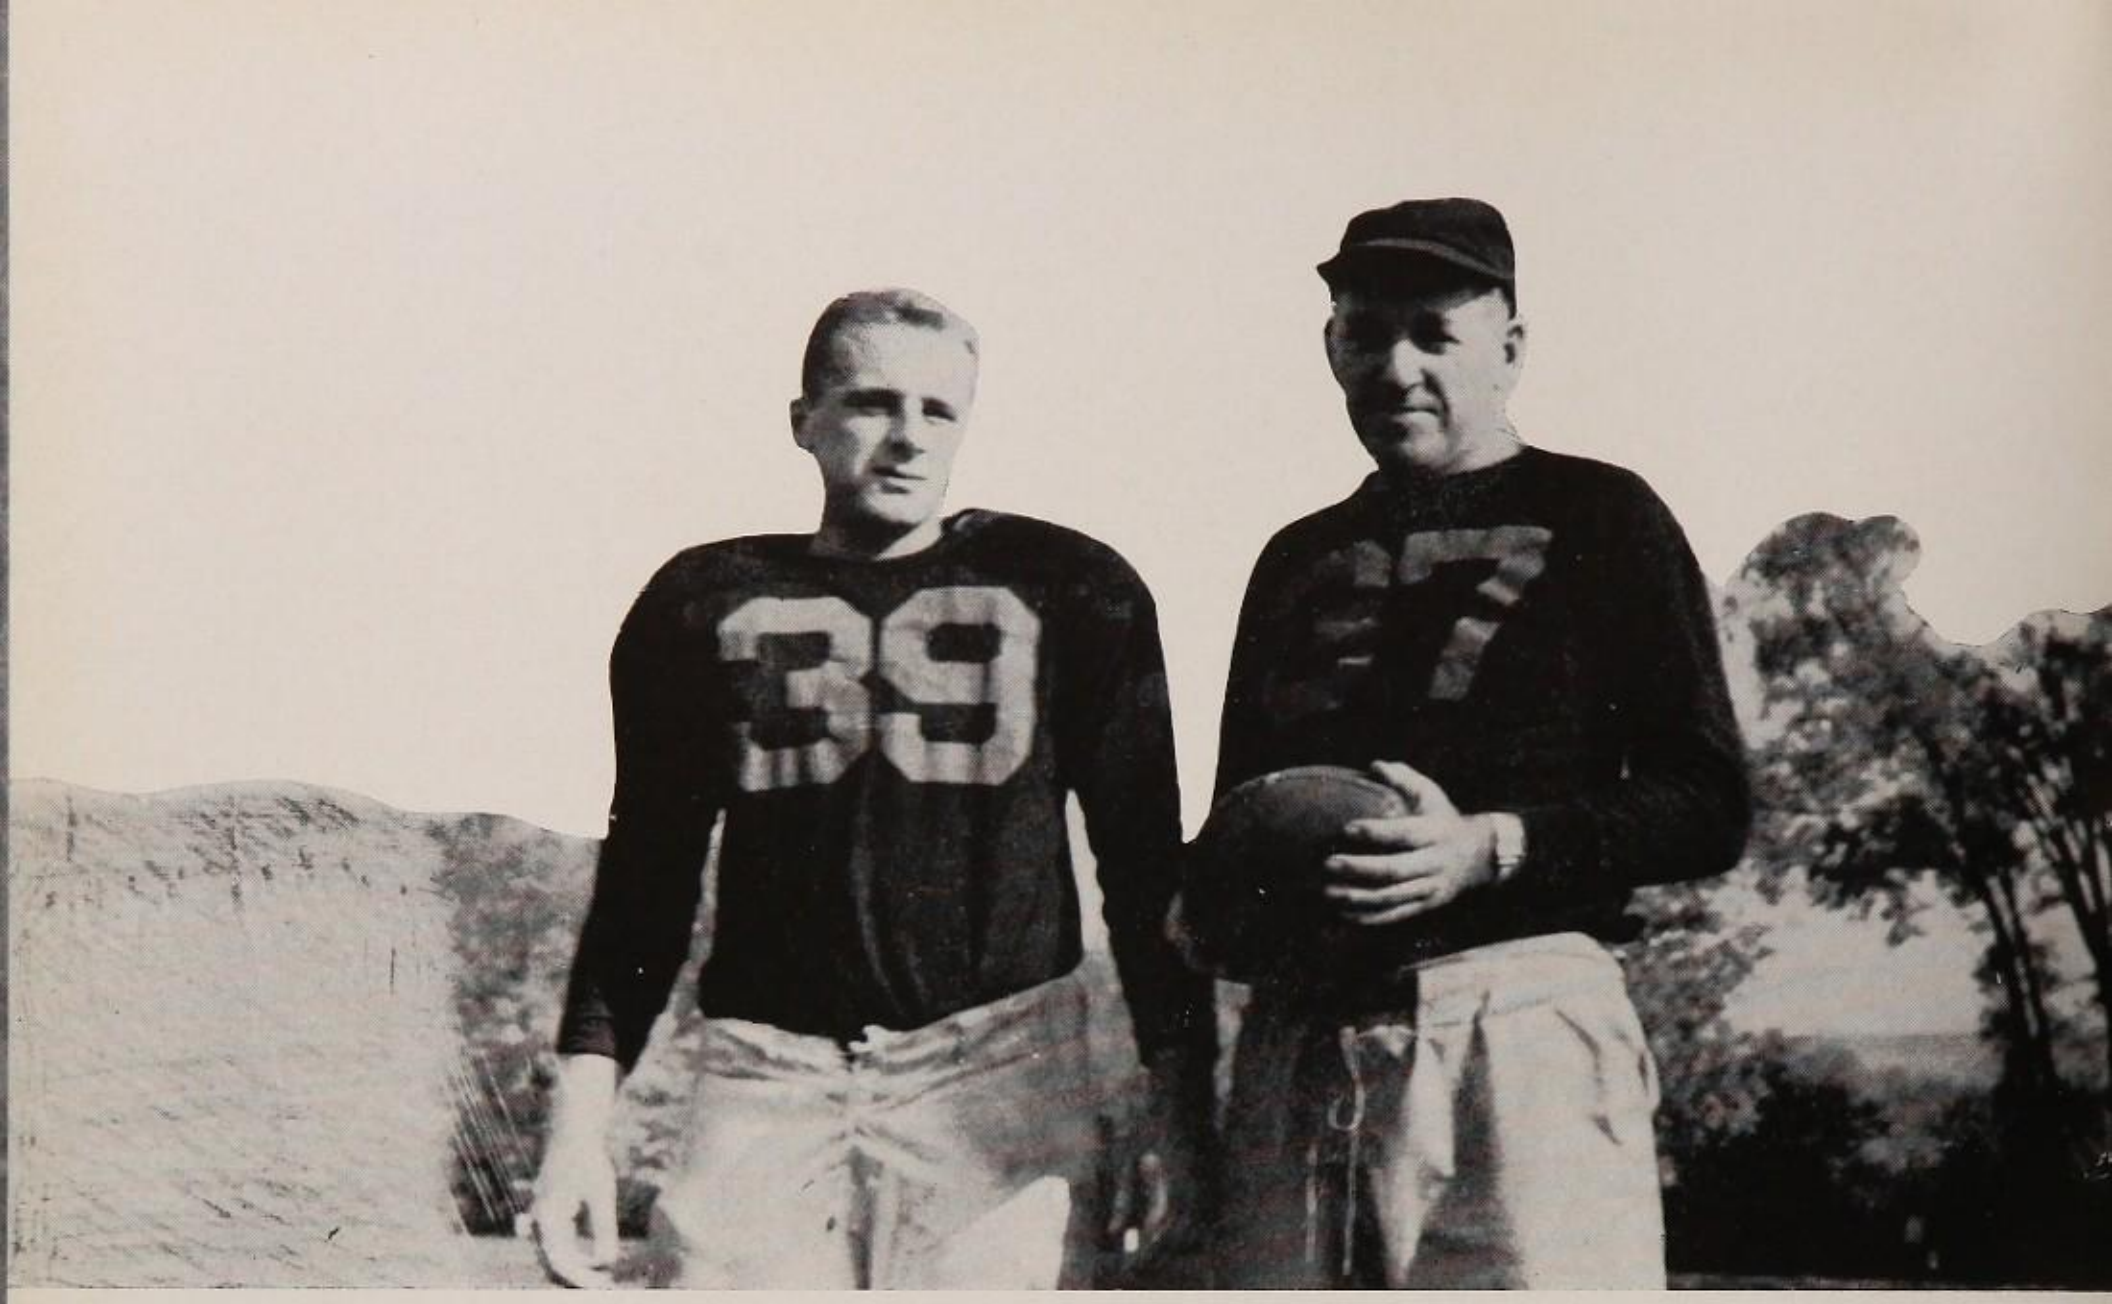
FALL



VARSITY FOOTBALL

Although hampered by many bad breaks the 1949 varsity football eleven managed to break even with three wins, three defeats, and a scoreless tie. The three losses were all hard-fought battles, but the team, in each of these games, waited too late to get started. Even if the season doesn't seem too impressive, a lot was gained by every KUA participant, and the entire team feels greatly indebted to their two experienced coaches, Fred Carver and George Akerstrom.

After three weeks of hard football practice, the Carvermen invaded Suffield Academy in Suffield, Connecticut, to play their first game of the season. The game started with KUA receiving the kick-off and then marching 62 yards for the first talley of the year. The second score was made by Jack Donahue, who, after receiving a pass from Jack Jannoni, raced 25 yards to pay dirt. The second half found a new team playing for the opponents, and, after Jannoni had run 38 yards for another touchdown and Sherwood had kicked the extra point, Suffield romped through the KUA line twice, netting them six points the first time and seven the next.

The second game was played with Hebron Academy and ended in a scoreless tie. Though the hometeam was far more aggressive, it never found that little extra push to put the ball into the end-zone.

On the following Saturday the Varsity played its first home game and chalked up its first defeat of the season. Pete Shea galloped away to score the only KUA six-pointer of the encounter, and Middlebury went home with a well-earned victory.

The next team on the program to face the Hilltoppers was the powerful undefeated

Mount Hermon squad. The two teams appeared to be evenly matched well into the third quarter when our backbone was finally snapped, and the Hermonites made two rapid touchdowns, which concluded the scoring for the afternoon.

The next two games were played as conditioners for the all-important Vermont Academy Game. The first was against the Dartmouth B Freshman team; this game was won by KUA, who scored two convincing touchdowns. The first real Kimball Union drive saw Shea, Sherwood, and Jannoni setting up the first score, with Jannoni finally getting the ball over the final marker. The second touchdown was also accredited to Jannoni, who scored on a pass from Jack Donahue after running the remaining 35 yards.

One of the easiest games of the season was played against Norwich University, and again the Meridenmen came out on top. Roland Tremblay led the scoring parade after churning up the turf into the end-zone on a long pass. Jannoni was next with an upright-splitting extra-point conversion. Bill Bullen and Skip Baldwin were next as each scored as a result of "Pancho" Donahue's expert passing marksmanship. In the closing minutes of the game the scrappy Norwich plunged across in a fruitless attempt to gain a victory over the home team.

The last game, of course, was the traditional battle with Vermont Academy. Trailing by an eleven point margin at the half, the Kimball Union team surged back during the second half but were unable to tip the scales their way. Jannoni, Tremblay, and Bullen each scored during the afternoon as a result of concentrated drives.

J. V. FOOTBALL

As far as statistics go it would appear that the Junior Varsity Football season was a complete failure, but to those who closely followed the team throughout their strenuous schedule, it would seem to be a different story. It is true that the record was poor, but the scores point out none of the aggressiveness that the squad showed while encountering their powerful opponents. With no intention of making excuses it should be pointed out that while the other teams in the league had a good turnout, the prospects on the Hill-top were only fair. The squad, for the most part, was inexperienced. This is substantiated by the fact that the four backfield men usually attained "iron men" status, mainly because there were few capable substitutes.

The regular season, after a few practice skirmishes with Windsor, began on October 1 at Proctor where the Meridenmen were decisively trounced by a smooth running enemy eleven. The following week a strong New Hampton team rolled up a shutout victory, the only one of the campaign. In the next game against Mt. Hermon, the Adams-Mullermen began to show the first sparks of promise as they were edged in a game that was much tighter than the score would indicate. The ensuing week end saw them pitted against an undefeated Deerfield team. The Hilltoppers, however, were in the driver's seat as they led all of the way to take their one and only victory. The season finale at Vermont Academy will never be forgotten by those who saw it. Hampered constantly by penalties, the Wild-cats entered the final minutes holding the short end of a 13-0 score. Struggling against time as well as their rivals the team went over the goal line twice only to have the second one called back. Undaunted they started another march which fell short just as the final gun sounded.

RESERVE FOOTBALL TEAM

The Reserve Football Team completed its autumn schedule with two great victories over the traditional rival Vermont Academy, and thus fashioned a very fine record of five wins, one defeat, and one tie. However, the persons who deserve the most credit for this outstanding performance are the two coaches, Mr. Douglass and Mr. Spalding. Through their strenuous and difficult labor in producing a smooth, spirited team, the Hilltoppers encountered only one opponent, Deerfield, strong enough to outscore them.

In their first two games, the Reserves unleashed a devastating scoring punch to roll over Towle High School by tallies of 13-0 and 20-7. Then the eager, confident squad journeyed to Deerfield where they lost to a vastly superior eleven by a score of 19-0. Incidentally, this defeat at the hands of Deerfield served to continue the long string of consecutive triumphs enjoyed by that team over the Hilltoppers.

However, Kimball Union found the victory trail once again as they trounced New Hampton 12-0. The team continued to click by virtue of a sensational comeback conquest of Vermont Academy. Trailing by scores of 7-0 and 13-7, the Reserves finally pushed over the winning touchdown with a minute and a half remaining in the contest.

Then the squad traveled to New Hampton where it fought a bitter, disappointing 0-0 stalemate with the upstaters. In spite of this heartbreaking tie, the Hilltoppers swept the annually-great home-and-home series with Vermont Academy. This time, the Reserves led all the way to emerge victorious.

Thus, the team, sparked by Captain-elect Phil Cooke, who paced the squad in scoring with five touchdowns, terminated another fine season of football.

SOCCER

One victory and two defeats! That doesn't sounnd too good does it? No, it doesn't sound good at all as far as scoring was concerned. But, the 1949 Soccer team was a success as far as teamwork, spirit, and fight were concerned.

Everyone who had anything to do with the soccer team worked hard and diligently. But the biggest obstacle was the fact that there was very little material to work with. During the first practice session barely enough students showed up to make a full team, and even then a few of those who had shown up were completely inexperienced. Gradually, however, more boys became interested in the game, and soon there were enough of them for one team and a few substitutes.

The coaches, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Moulton, devoted the first few weeks of practice to kicking, trapping and other fundamentals. Then the team played host to a strong, highly rated Mt. Hermon team. The team did well to hold Hermon to a five to one victory. Despite the fact that they were outclassed in all the games in which they have participated all opposing teams noted a great improvement in playing The Hilltoppers a second time. In the second Tilton game, which was scoreless until the last five minutes of play, the scoring ended 2-1 as compared with a 2-0 score in the first encounter. In the second game with the unbeatable Dartmouth Frosh the performance was unseemingly better than that of the first. The big moment of glory for the KUA team was the big victory in the seventh game when they shut-out St. Pauls School by the score of 2-0.

Throughout the year the team showed vast improvement and, perhaps if the Soccer season had been longer, the KUA team would have been able to celebrate a few, well-deserved, victories.

VARSITY SKI TEAM

For the second year in a row the activities of the KUA ski team were limited for several weeks because of the bad snow conditions at the beginning of the season. When the white stuff did finally arrive Coach Bill Robes soon had the team in excellent condition. The 1950 season was completed most successfully after the cancellation of the first few meets.

Because of the lack of snow the first two meets, Middlebury and Proctor, were not held, and when finally a small amount of snow did come, an informal invitation jumping meet was held down at Vermont Academy during their carnival.

Our Carnival saw the Wildcats dump five opponents. They barely nosed out Vermont Academy 194-193. Hebron, Mt. Hermon, Deerfield, and Cushing followed in that order. In a four event meet with the Dartmouth Freshmen the KUA men were soundly outskied in all events except X-country

The Cushing Carnival meet was also not held and much time was put into preparing for the highlight of the season. The Eastern Prep School Championships at Middlebury, Vermont. The only event in which we had men placing was jumping where Roland Tremblay captured the first place medal and Captain Dave Oberlander received third place honors. The Kimball Union skiers were forced to bow out to Proctor Academy by a mere three points, 287-284. Ten teams from New England and New York trailed KUA.

The 1951 Varsity Ski season will greet only two returning lettermen, Captain David Oberlander and Roland Tremblay, but Bill hopes to build the team around this formidable duo.

Manager Glidden, Briggs, Wood, Wright, Blair, D. Cooke, and Coach Nash

J. V. SKI TEAM

The J. V. Ski Team, under the able direction of Coach Frank Nash, enjoyed a successful season as it won three meets and lost two to its opponents. Returning to the squad were Skip Baldwin, Steve Blair, and Don Cooke; However, Baldwin and Tremblay after participating in the first meeting against Hanover, became members of the Varsity.

In the initial encounter with Hanover High School, the Hilltoppers swept the first three places as newcomers Tremblay and Haywood won first and third positions, respectively, while Baldwin captured second. Then the J. V.'s played host to Hanover, and defeated them once again. By this time, the outlook for a great season appeared very bright.

Unfortunately, the squad ran into some superior opposition, and lost to Lebanon High School. Next, a week later, the skiers dropped a bitter meet with traditional rival, Vermont Academy, on the victors' stamping grounds. However, the J. V. team displayed its best ability as it swept V. A. in a return meet by a decisive margin.

As a result of this year's success, Coach Nash and his boys are anticipating another good season in 1951. Furthermore, everyone hopes for a great deal of snow in order that the Hilltoppers may add some more victories against other schools.

SKI PATROL

Despite the brevity of the season and the lack of good snow, Mr. Moulton's Ski Patrol had a busy season patroling the various slopes used by the "Rec" skiers. With few accidents the Patrol kept itself busy by looking, not for accidents, but for snow!

The high-light of the season came when the Patrol was invited to ski with the young ladies from Northfield School for Girls, who were having their ski-weekend on Mt. Ascutney. With all tows running and good snow, the whole affair was a huge success.

When a sufficient amount of that white stuff finally accumulated, Mr. Porter started the tow on the "Patch." The Ski Patrol then began to function as a unit by helping Mr. Moulton and Ike Townsend in their ski classes whenever possible. Much of the Patrol's time was spent keeping the skiers on the tow moving along and spacing them on the tow correctly.

The Patrol as a whole is more interested in the prevention of accidents than in the treatment of a mishap that could have been avoided.

With a good number of the Patrol graduating, Mr. Moulton hopes to recruit as many skiers as possible to form an outstanding Ski Patrol next winter.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Building around two returning letter-men, Bill Bullen and Bill Leatherbee, co-winners of the Herb Glick Trophy, Coach "Mike" Deneault shaped one of the best basketball teams ever to step upon the KUA court. The season was a complete success as the team, after winning eleven out of thirteen league games, swept on to greater heights and won the New England Class "B" Preparatory School Championship in the Boston Gardens.

The season got off to a rather poor start as the Wildcats bowed to Cushing by a slim four point margin. Then, after victories over Mt. Hermon, Dartmouth Frosh, and Clark, they fell again, this time to a powerful New Hampton quintet. At that point they found themselves and rolled through the next eight games. Then they lost to Tilton in the final league game.

In the semi-final match of the New England Tournament against New Hampton, the team got off to a comfortable 14-0 lead in the early minutes of the game, then fell behind at the half, and went in front again in the closing minutes to win. The championship game at the Boston Garden was a true classic. Typical of the fighting spirit, the Meridenmen, with 67 seconds left in the game and being 7 points behind, gave out with a once-in-a-lifetime rally to tie up the game at the final buzzer. In the overtime Huntington's pepper gave out, and it bowed out by a tight 3 point deficit.

Bill Leatherbee held the scoring honors with 310 points. Bill Bullen was runner-up with 205 tallies. Next came co-captains Chuck Ordway and Schnoz MacNamara with 75 and 72 digits respectively. Rocho Derr, who couldn't seem to find the hoop this year, gave the opposition a tough time on the backboards with his excellent rebound work.

J. V. BASKETBALL

The J. V.'s finished one of their most successful seasons this year. They faced one of the stiffest schedules in years and managed to capture four out of ten decisions. This record would have undoubtedly been better if the team they ended the season with had played every game together. Because of varsity games on the same day, players such as Slattery, Crump, and Weitzel missed several J. V. games.

Dave Slattery and Bob Rose were co-captains of this outfit and led the team well. The Spaulding men opened the season by losing to a rangy Vermont team by three baskets and followed this loss with another to a powerful Hermon quintet. They drove into the win column by edging Clark, but then were defeated down at New Hampton despite "Itchey" Newman's fine last minute performance. The J. V.s then went on to whip the Holderness Varsity, 30 to 28, and followed this win by whipping New Hampton in a return game with a sensational fourth period finish. Hermon again whipped the Orange, but they retalliated by nudging Clark on their home court. The final two games of the year were lost to a strong Hartford High quintet by comparatively close scores. In the final game Dave Slattery tossed in twenty-two markers while only playing half the game.

There were several outstanding players on this year's group, but as a whole the quintet showed fine team play. Slattery finished as high scorer with 84 points, with Fay close on his heels with 79. This ended one of the finest seasons in J. V. history.

VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM

The 1949-1950 Varsity Hockey season was one of the greatest in Kimball Union History. Mr. Akerstrom, the head coach, did a masterful job in coaching this outstanding squad, which won twelve out of the fifteen games played. Included in this brilliant record were three victories over college sextets; two from the Big Green, and the other from the Middlebury Frosh.

The team made its auspicious debut with a triumphant win over New Hampton. Next it followed with a slaughterous victory over Clark and an inspiring win over powerful Exeter. The next two games were played away, and resulted in shutouts for the KUA skaters. These two unfortunate teams were Vermont Academy and Mount Hermon. However, both these teams accounted for themselves in the return games; Vermont outskated and outscored the Hilltoppers at the KUA carnival, and later Mount Hermon squared up the ledger with a close victory.

The Orange and Black began to click again, as they nipped Dartmouth, polished off Hebron, and then beat the Dartmouth Frosh a second time as Stu Cunliffe turned the hat trick. In the following game Kimball Union played host to the Melrose Red Raiders, champions of Greater Boston, who eked out a 3-2 win after leading the Varsity pucksters by an insurmountable 3 points. Yet the Hilltop Orangemen crashed through the rest of the season with triumphs over Deerfield, Clark, Middlebury, by a terriffic score, and finally New Hampton.

Thus, the scrappy charges of Coach Akerstrom completed their fine schedule. Everyone had his moment of glory, but the star of the ice rinks was Stu Cunliffe, who paced the team with twenty-six goals in only fifteen contests, for an average of at least one tally per game. As a result of his play Stu was elected captain of next year's squad. Another outstanding competitor, Dave Thielscher, who played an amazing season as goal-tender, was chosen as this year's captain.

J. V. HOCKEY

The Junior Varsity hockey team of 1949-50 had an excellent season, winning five of the six games played and exhibiting the type of hockey expected of them.

The team began their season by whipping a good New Hampton sextet, 1-0. Following this triumph, the squad journeyed to Saxtons River, Vermont, where they met and defeated the forces of Vermont Academy. Back on home ice once again, the KUA sextet outplayed and outfought the Hanover Aces, 5-2. Later, a return engagement with Hanover saw the KUA team go down to their only defeat of the year, losing in an overtime, 2-1. Down at New Hampton Phil Turner batted in the only goal of the game to give K. U. A. a well earned triumph. The final game of the season, that with Vermont Academy, saw the team hit its peak by outskating, outscraping, and outscoring the Vermont team, 3-0 with Bob Gray, K.U.A. goaltender, who gained his fourth shutout of the season.

The main standouts of the season were Center Wally Soule and Goaltender Bob Gray. Wally Soule, who was elected captain at the annual team party following the close of the season, was the scoring leader with six goals in as many games. Freddy Muise was runner-up in the scoring department, scoring four times, while Phil Turner, Don Heath, and Arnold Bearse each registered once. Much of the success of the team must be attributed to coach "Grubby" Douglass, whose fine coaching and art of moulding a group of boys into a winning combination made the season a complete success.

Front Row — McNamara, Donahue, Ordway, Leatherbee (Captain), Shea, and Shaw
Back Row — Flickinger, Sherwood, J. Berwick, Wood, Tremblay, and Fay

VARSITY BASEBALL

This year Coaches Brewster and Douglass, taking over for Coach Carver this campaign, have molded a potentially good team from the five returning lettermen and numerous newcomers. The competition for positions this year is the keenest in many a season, and, after two weeks of practice, which included "pepper games," bunting drills, and informal batting practice, "Chief" and "Grub" weeded out the prospects and started to assemble the team.

The hurling assignments are divided among Ted "Sepper" McNamara, Bob Shaw, and Frank Fay, while the other end of the battery is well stocked with the able mittmen, Pete Shea and Charlie Tremblay. The infield is well settled with Bill Leatherbee on the initial sack, Jack Donahue at the "keystone," Troy Combs guarding the "hot corner," and the only newcomer in the infield, Irv Sherwood "scooping them up" at the shortstop.

The outer brigade is taken care of by the aforementioned McNamara, Shaw and Tremblay with Don Wood, Jack Berwick and Chuck Ordway.

In the first game the Brewstermen lost a heartbreaker, when Deerfield scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth to nullify Troy's two ply wallop in the top half of the same inning. In the second encounter the Hilltoppers were completely outplayed by a game Cushing nine and lost by a sizeable margin. However, in the fourth contest they came back to solidly whip a New Hampton team, but again, they dropped into losing doldrums when a strong Vermont team shut the Hilltoppers out in a well played contest at Saxtons River.

Much credit for the team's good showing must be given to the players themselves for playing a good brand of ball, win or lose. Also applaudits must be given the "Chief" for molding a star-studded team into a workable nine. "Grubby" Douglass deserves his share of praise for practically breaking his back every day hitting fungoes to the assorted members of the team.

Front Row — Richards, Briggs, W. Hamilton, Flickinger, Bailey, J. Rea, and D. Cooke
Back Row — Coach Nash, Prince, MacLeod, Reinking, Mills and Heath

J. V. BASEBALL

With the illustrious grammarian, Mr. Nash, at the helm, the Junior Varsity baseball squad has visions of a highly successful season. A flurry of seasoned lettermen strengthen all positions at a grand total of seven are back for another try in an attempt to have a winning year despite the rugged nine game schedule.

In Nash's nifty nine, Bailey seems to be holding down the first base job with no apparent need for replacement, while Flickinger has taken over second to form a strong keystone combination with Soule as shortstop. These boys are ably backed up by Heath and Reinking. At the hot corner Briggs holds a slight edge over Muise as number one candidate. Mills, Wood, Richards, Hamilton, MacLeod and Prince team up to patrol the outer gardens and to supply punch to the batting order. On the mound are Rea, Hamilton, and Fay throwing to Cooke and Oddy, the men behind the iron mask.

The season got off to a rather inconspicuous start as Deerfield sent the Hilltoppers home with a stinging 19-7 setback. This session saw the Wildcats commit 16 (count 'em) grievous errors. Richards collected two of the three local hits, the third being a long double by Flickinger. At New Hampton, the team faired considerably better as they turned back their opponents, 6-4, with Hamilton and Bailey paving the way with a brace of hits apiece. Again fate reared its ugly head in the Vermont game, and once more the Nashmen tasted defeat, this time by a 3-0 score.

These games are not in the least indicative of the potential power of this year's team. With a few contests under their belts, the tension of actual combat worn off, and a new brand of baseball will be displayed. However, even the Red Sox are beaten sometimes.

Front Row — Kaufman, White, Rearse, Muise, Sly, and Douglas

RESERVE BASEBALL

Close to thirty-five baseball enthusiasts reported to Coach Larry Taylor following the spring vacation in hopes of securing a position on the KUA Reserve baseball team. Now, after three weeks of batting and fielding practice, and daily scrimmages, the team appears to be set for its opening game of the season.

Running through the various positions we find the following candidates making the headlines. Beginning with the pitching staff we see that Pat Cassidy heads the list of hopeful hurlers, and he is ably backed up by the strong arm of Dave White. On the receiving end of the pitching is John Oddy, who appears to have the catching department all sewed up. At first base, Bob Dallin seems to have everything under control and he is backed up by Fred Weitzel. Down at the keystone sack little "Grubby" Douglass has things well in hand with Pete Crump trying to nudge "Grub" to the rear. Otis Carney has shortstop pretty well sewed up, but at third base, Freddy Muise has his hands full in battling Arnold Bearse for the hot corner.

The outfield consists of Leroy Brown, Newell Sly and Morris Kaufman as starters, with Dick Lunt, Mike Schmid and Bob Gray filling in as replacements. Much of the team's spirit is credited to Coach Taylor and his method of giving everyone an equal chance of making the team.

Front Row — Pope, Baldwin, Gore, C. Taylor, Kurth, Weeks, Esten, Hagstrom, and Ogden
Back Row — T. Crump, Batchelder, Bowers, Akey, Derr, J. Cummings, Mayham, Rogers, and Coach Akerstrom

LACROSSE

Lacrosse enthusiam at Kimball Union Academy seems to be at a low ebb. This year there are thirteen returning lettermen, but the thinned ranks are filled with only enough men to make a varsity squad. Mr. Akerstrom started immediately emphasizing the fundamentals and the strong points of the game in the first practice session, for there were only two and a half scant weeks of practice before the opening combat. With the continued high spirits of the present, it would seem very likely that the team would turn out a very successful season.

Both the attack and the mid-field are furnished with seasoned players, and the defense has only one newcomer. The attack is composed of "Monk" Ogden, Willie Kurth, and Dick Esten, with Curt Taylor frequently filling in at all positions. The first mid-field is led by Ted Hagstrom with Art Heard and Skip Baldwin helping out on the flanks. This group is well-assisted by Don Conner, John Batchelder, Bob Earle, and Dave "Satch" Thielscher alternating in the second. At defense and roughing up the opposition, we find Steve Weeks, John "Frenchie" Pope, and slight, but game, Rocky Derr. Behind them? Why, none other than the infallible "Gluefoot" (Jim Gore to those who have not heard of his fame as a speedster) defending the net.

The first game of the season was played at home, and, although the KUA men took a fast 2-0 lead, the unpracticed, Deerfield-laden Dartmouth Freshmen soon overtook and conquered them by a score of 10-4. In the second game, with a little more ease and teamwork, the Wildcats easily beat the Clark School team, 14-2. In their latest game the Hilltoppers seemed a little more overconfident than lazy. However, they were able to swamp the Union Freshmen with a 9-4 victory.

Back Row — Manager Bell, Slocum, August, Olsen, Heimlich, Hull, Pease, Ewing, and Carr

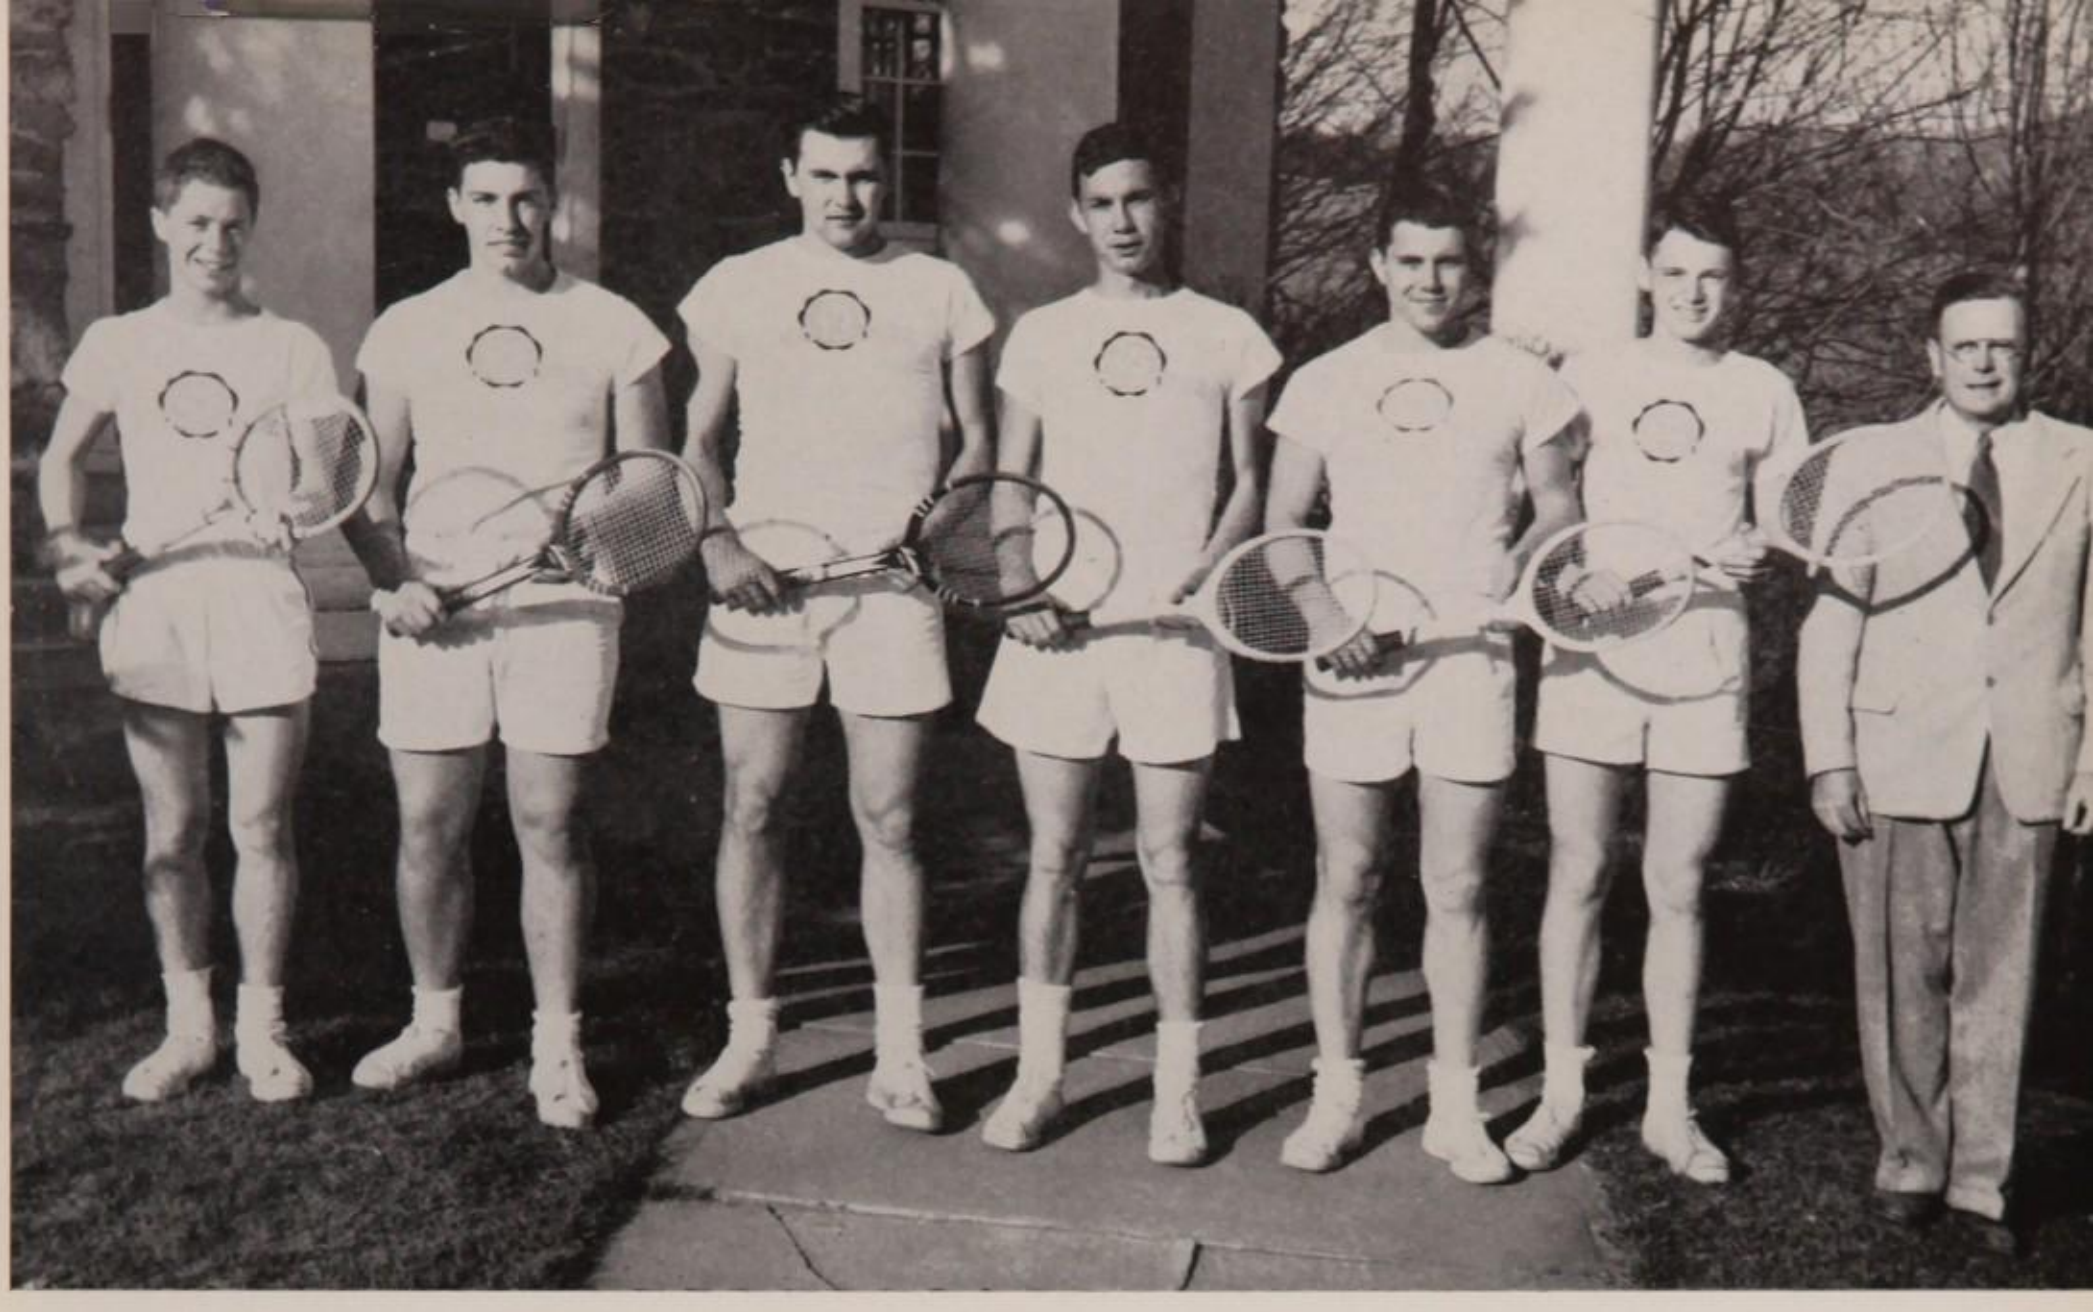
VARSITY TRACK

At the beginning of the 1950 spring sports season, coaches Deneault and Muller were not overburdened with material with which to build a track team. Only four men who had had experience from last year's season reported, which made it difficult for the coaches to predict approximately just how successful their team-to-be would turn out. However, new talent was discovered, and the training period before the first meet was devoted to discovering the abilities of the individuals, and to cultivating these abilities when found.

As the training period drew to a close, the coaches could see a brighter future than they had seen previously. The boys were co-operating with their coaches, and not only was the quality of their performances increasing, but also the whole team itself was increasing in number. Some boys had discovered that the energy which they uselessly squandered on another sport, because they had no ability in that particular sport, could be used by the track team to a great advantage.

Jack Jannoni and Shep Wolff take care of the dashes, while Arch Buck, Hal Wescott, Dick Reading and Wayne Daniels cover the middle distances. Bob Olsen holds down the mile run. Alan August and George Merwin leap the hurdles and the field events are covered by a contingent which includes: Bill Heimlich, Lyman Johnson, Frank Ewing, Ed Hull and the aforementioned, Buck and August.

At the first track meet of the season, which was held at VA, the hilltoppers were greatly set back by the Vermonters, but the result of this meet was of little importance as far as the defeat was concerned. It served, more or less, as a final check-up for the KUA track team. It was possible at this point to discover what needed to be corrected so that the rest of the season could be considered a success.



P. Cooke, Carver, Captain Bullen, Thomson, Gorsey, St. Amant, and Coach Adams

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM

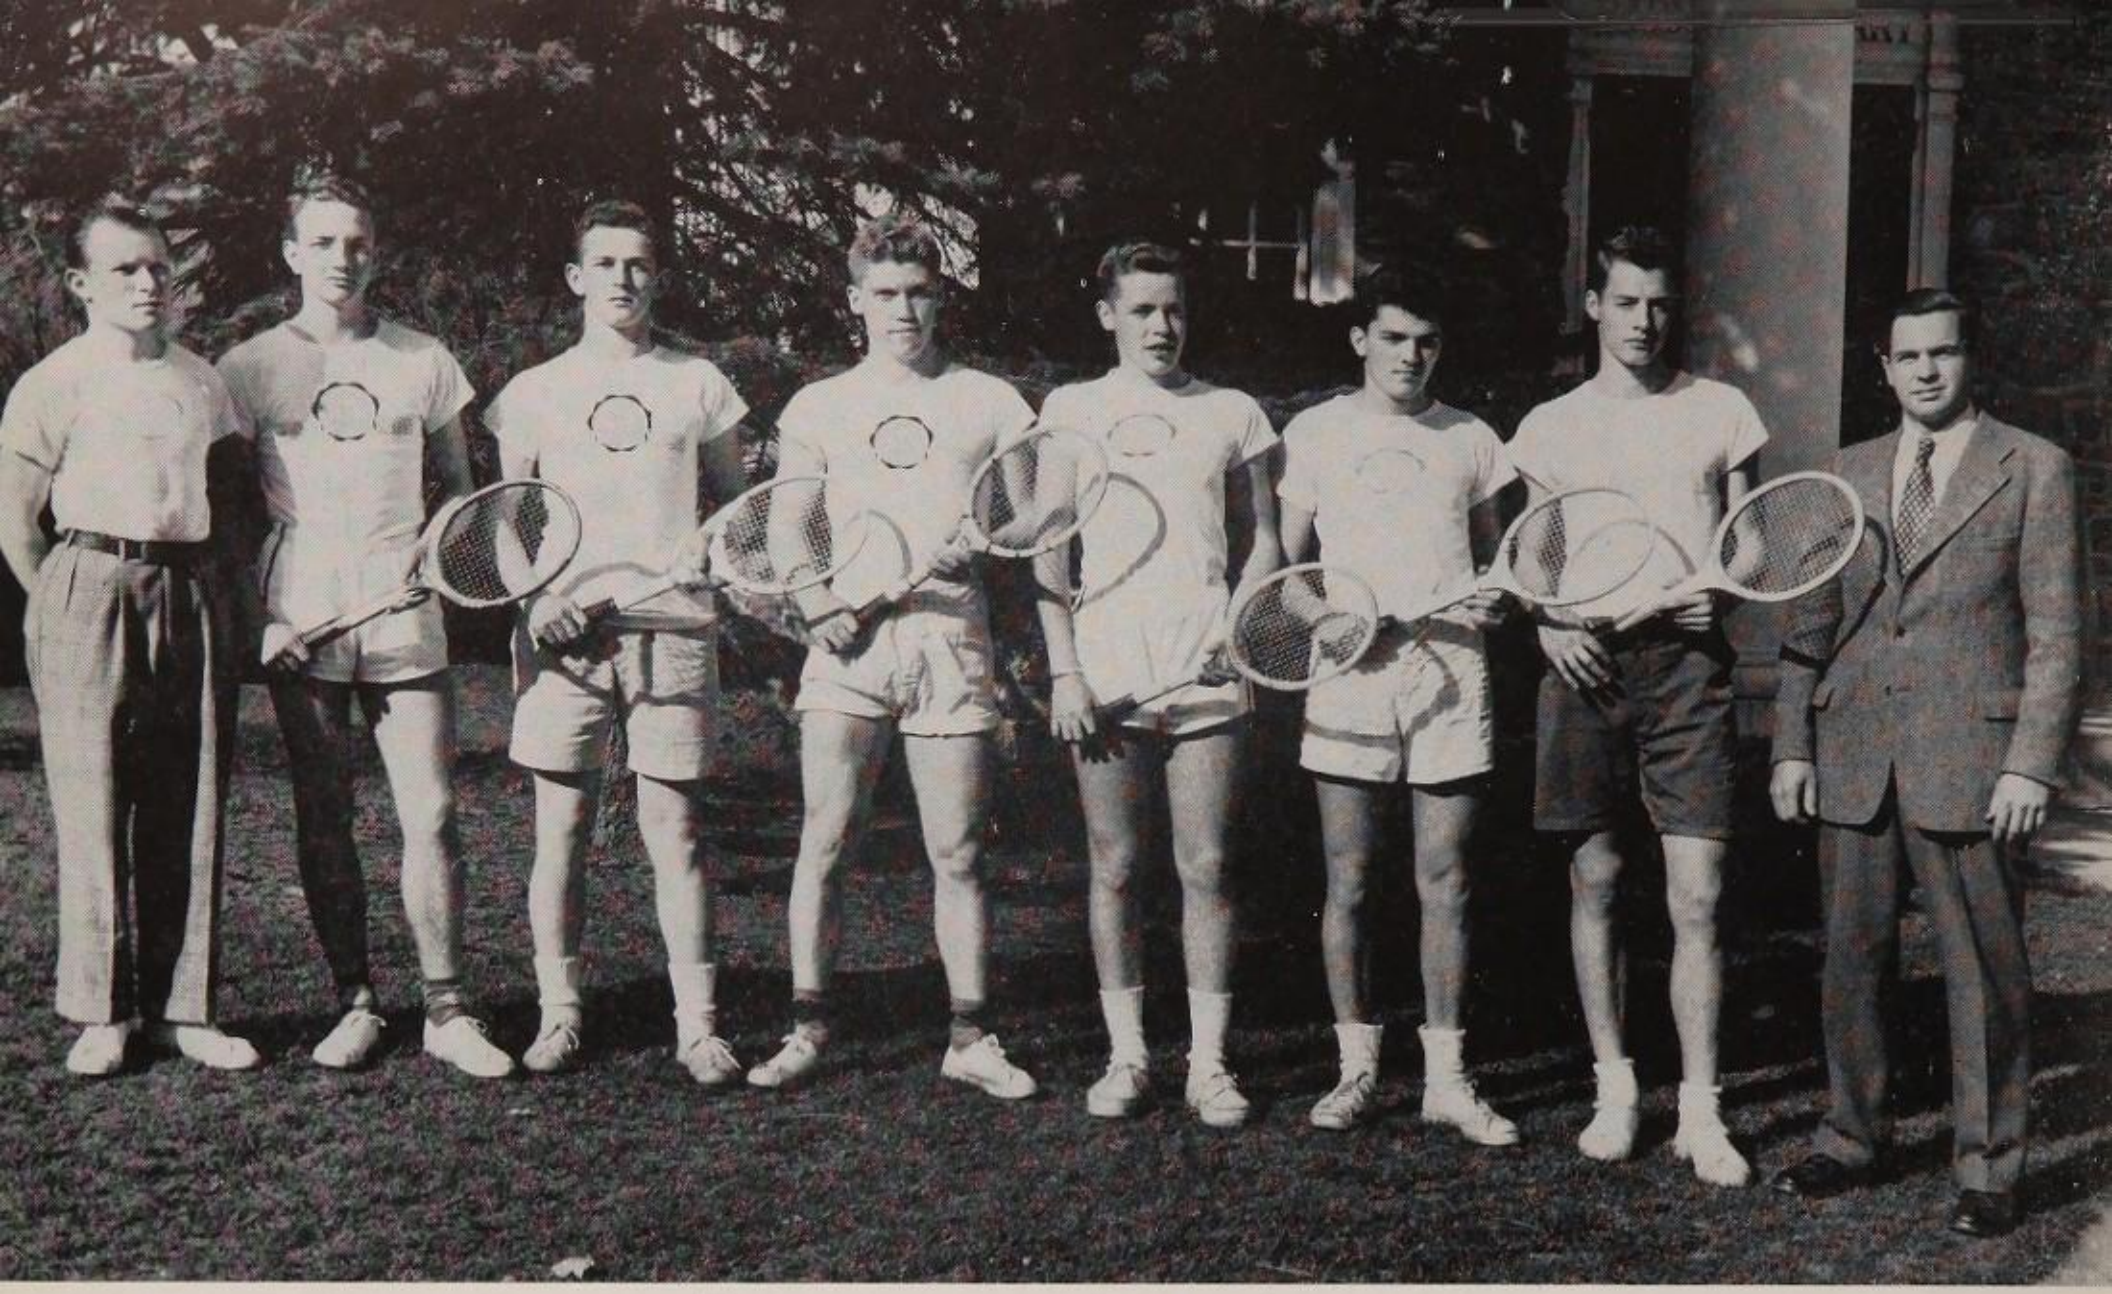
Following spring vacation, an imposing array of tennis players began their April practice sessions in the gymnasium under the tutelage of Coach Arthur "A. D." Adams. Returning to the squad were four lettermen in Captain Bill Bullen, Phil Cooke, Jim Carver, and Dick Dorsey. Two newcomers, Bill Thomson and Bill St. Amant, also showed to good advantage. However, as the challenge ladder got under way, several of the Junior Varsity aspirants offered strong competition.

Although some stormy weather prevented the team from lengthy outdoor drills on the fundamentals, Coach Adams was able to derive a formidable array of players from the long list of candidates as a result of the ladder matches. The lineup for the first match was as follows: Captain Bill Bullen in the number one position; Bill Thomson, the Nutmeg annihilator, second; steady Phil Cooke playing third; Jim Carver in the fourth slot; Dick Gorsey, fifth; and Bill St. Amant, in the sixth rank.

On the twenty-second of April, the Varsity played host to Cushing Academy, and got off to an auspicious start as it defeated the visitors by a one-sided score of 9-0. The losers revised their squad ladder in a vain attempt to pick up some points, but it was no use. As a result of this victory, the team was confident of a good season.

The next two matches, against New Hampton and Vermont Academy, respectively, were both away from home. Nevertheless, the squad romped again as they defeated both of these schools by similar 9-0 margins. From these two encounters, the Varsity realized that it had tremendous potentialities.

Both Coach Adams and the members of the team are very confident that they will produce a great record this year. A. D. has spent many hours in getting the squad into the best physical condition possible, and the only thing he will have to worry about is overconfidence among the players.



Manager D. Rea, Blair, Dewey, Nugent, Tuttle, Case, Hamlin, and Coach McBee

JUNIOR VARSITY TENNIS

After a year of building, Mr. McBee has at his disposal a team which could very easily go through the season victoriously. With Turner and Hamlin representing last year's squad, and newcomers Rose, Case, Wilson, Nugent, Dewey, and Pease tearing up the old clay surface, the future of this team looks very bright indeed.

Since the entire varsity will graduate this year, next season's prospects will be in the form of Nugent, Dewey, Hamlin, and Wilson. Of course the strength of next year's varsity six will depend on the amount of power which these four mere lads are able to obtain.

This season the Javees will take part in seven matches. Of these seven, they have already played three. They trounced New Hampton soundly; beat Proctor by one point less, and took Vermont Academy by a still lesser margin. This is a good, if not excellent, start, and it is still better, when it is taken into consideration that this team is, for the most part, relatively inexperienced in court procedures.

The overall season shows great promise, but next season's Javee prospects are dark. Mr. McBee will have to begin all over again and build his team from whatever material is placed before him.
